Jurišne puške so v Nemčiji začeli izdelovati leta 1942, nadomestile naj bi zastarele mavzerice in brzostrelke. Ob tem je bil razvit tudi nov naboj 7,92 x 33 mm. Kratica MP pomeni Maschinen Pistole, konec leta 1944 pa je orožje dobilo političen naziv Sturmgewehr 44. Nekaj kosov orožja je med vojno zaplenila partizanska vojska, večja količina tega orožja pa je v Jugoslavijo prišla po vojni, kot vojna odškodnina.

Assault rifles were introduced in Germany in 1942 to replace the obsolete Mauser and submachine guns. A new 7.92x33mm cartridge was also developed. The abbreviation MP stands for Maschinen Pistole, and at the end of 1944 the weapon was given a political name: Sturmgewehr 44. Some of the weapons were confiscated by the Partisan army during the war, but the bulk of them came to Yugoslavia after the war as reparation.
